SEPT. 18th to 30th

Council To Aid Victory Celebration; Asks Canadian Legion To Take Lead; Meeting On Friday

September Water Rates to be Waived and Light Consumption to be Reduced 60%; Must Secure Council's Permission Before Soliciting at Bank.

Regular meeting of the council was held on Friday evening. Present: Mayor Antrobus, Councillors Cox, Dutil, Lowe, Jenkins and Ramsay.

A letter was received from the Department of Public Health, informing council that provincial sanitary inspector, Charles Butterfield, would be in Coleman during the latter part of August.

Correspondence was received from Holy Cross hospital concerning the hospitalization charge for Charles Davis, and also from Mr. H. C. Davis on the same subject. Both letters were filed.

Correspondence from the Department of Health regarding the ministerial order for the establishment of the proposed Crows' Nest Pass Municipal Hospital District was filed.

Fire Chief Wm. Antle reported on the recent fire at the town nuisance grounds. Fire workers were paid at the rate of 50c per hour.

Martin Hazuka was present with a petition signed by many East Coleman residents, appealing against the odors emanating from the Grand Union sewerage system. The petition will be forwarded by council to the Department of Public Health, with the request that Sanitary Engineer D. B. Menzies visit Coleman as promised.

Coleman Light & Water Co. will be asked to install light and water services in the following homes: Marconi, Clarke and Eysackers.

Curling Arena Showing Marked Progress

Sides Are Up and Work Has Commenced on Roof; Old Arena Now Practically Demolished.

Marked progress has been made during the past week in the construction of the new curling arena. The walls have been erected and on Monday the boards were being nailed on.

Uprights are now being placed preparatory to erecting the framework for the roof.

Much material has been secured from the old curling arena, which is now almost demolished. A few more evenings' work should see the old site completely cleared.

Curlers who have been stating that they would lend a helping hand once the boards were ready to be nailed on can call around any evening now.

Many volunteer helpers are on the job nightly and their work is greatly appreciated by the executive.

PICTURES OF MEMBERS OF THE ARMED FORCES REQUIRED

Citizens having pictures of members of the armed forces and who have no objection to having them spotlighted in the Friendly Store weekly series are asked to bring the pictures to The Journal office.

A shipment is being prepared to send east for engraving and those secured within the next few days will be included in this shipment. All pictures are handled carefully and returned unsold to their owners.

BILL COLE ENLISTS IN THE ARMY

Bill Cole, manager of Cole's Theatres, has enlisted in the Canadian Army and left this week to receive his basic training in the east. Mrs. Cole spent a few days in Calgary with her husband before his unit left the city.

Mrs. Cole, aided by Mr. Cole sr., will manage the theatres till Bill's return. Mr. Cole sr. arrived here a few weeks ago from his Victoria home to spend a vacation, but plans on remaining and lending a hand for the present.

JOHN D'APPOLONIA GROWS DELICIOUS FRUIT

Now we know why John D'Appolonia is so proud of the fruit he grows at his Creston farm.

Over the holiday week end a Coleman party called on John and Mrs. D'Appolonia at their Creston home, and in addition to being royally entertained for a few hours, they were given ample supplies of apples, plums, pears and peaches to bring home.

Tuesday afternoon Ye Ed. was given the pleasure of sampling large juicy peaches, as well as a juicy pear, which proved delicious.

Druggists To Push War Savings Stamp Drive In Alberta

Alberta druggists on Friday last opened an intensive war savings stamp drive in the province, with an objective of $12,000 for sales during the month of September. This campaign is part of a national effort by the druggists to raise $600,000 in war savings stamps during the month.

To give the campaign special incentive in Alberta, the druggists of the province have contributed an electric refrigerator and $1,000 in additional prizes, which will be raffled during the campaign. The purchase of one war savings stamp from any Alberta druggist will entitle the buyer to a chance in the draw for prizes.

Each person who buys a stamp from a drug store during September, in addition to receiving a raffle coupon, will be enrolled as a member of the "25 Club." Club members pledge themselves to purchase four war savings stamps each month during the year.

The four stamps bought in this way will pay for a 20mm shell, which is now being used for all three of Canada's fighting services. Canada's production of the 20mm shell was increased when the invasion of Europe was anticipated, and now the Dominion is producing the shell at the rate of about 1,500,000 rounds each month. Replicas of the shell have been distributed by the national war finance committee and will be displayed in all drug stores during September.

Special Raffles
"Drug stores are also conducting their own "war saving stamp raffles." Persons taking part purchase a 25 cent stamp which is placed on a card, with the name of the purchaser entered beside any number from 1 to 16. When the sixteen stamps have been sold, a draw is made, and the person having selected the number drawn is presented with the shoot of 16 war savings stamps, which can be exchanged for a $5 war savings certificate.

The drug campaign in southern Alberta is being arranged under the chairmanship of W. J. Leigh, Calgary. Besides the special prizes offered, awards will be given the Alberta druggist who sells the largest number of war savings stamps during the month. All these extra prizes have been contributed by Alberta druggists. Coleman Pharmacy is co-operating.

Something New to be Featured at Carnival

Ticket Sale Remains Good; Occasional Chairs to be Prizes at Bingo Booth; Ed's Orchestra Engaged for Jitney Dance.

Anxiously searching for something new to use in their first carnival, the Curling Club carnival committee has hit upon a scheme which it hopes meets with the approval of the local public.

The scheme will be tried out on the bingo booth. Patrons will be encouraged to play either four or five games, number still to be determined, per hour at ten cents per game. During each game each player will be given a yellow card. At the end of an hour the four or five cards will be exchanged for a red card. This red card entitles the holder to sit in on a game for which the prize will be an occasional chair valued at $16.50. The price for this particular game will be 25c. Three chairs will be given away each night, one every hour.

The ever popular blanket booth will be here, as well as a ham-and-bacon booth.

The committee has given a sympathetic ear to the many complaints heard at other carnivals regarding the wheels that are marked white your choice, red our choice. At this carnival if you are lucky enough to hit the winning number you get your own selected prize. A few large Teddy Bears are expected and will be prominently displayed in one of the booths.

Ed's orchestra has been engaged to play for the Jitney dance each night.

THANK YOU

Coleman Curling Club carnival committee appreciate the co-operation of Alex. Moroney, proprietor of the Crows' Nest Lake dance pavilion, in allowing the committee to secure the services of Ed's orchestra for its carnival on Sept. 23 and 25. On Sept. 23 Mr. Moroney will not sponsor his regular Saturday night dance and urges dance lovers to attend the Jitney dance at the carnival.

Increased Entry List at Bellevue Flower Show

630 Entries, An Increase of 115 Over Last Year; Mrs. Wm. Antle Won Five Prizes.

Another successful flower show was sponsored on Labor Day by Bellevue and District Horticultural Society. Officials were well pleased with the entry list, which showed an increase of 115 over that of 1943.

The flower and vegetable entries were beautiful. Much painstaking work could be visualized in the many exhibits. As is usually the case, the Bellevue exhibitors dominated, and Spooner, of Bellevue, seemingly won the bulk of the prizes.

The fancy work was exceptionally good, and it was here that Coleman was represented, with Mrs. Wm. Antle winning five prizes, one first, two seconds and two thirds. Mrs. Wilson, of Blairmore, had many exhibits in the fancy work class and dominated the prize list with many beautiful exhibits.

The cooking exhibits were down from last year, but this did not detract from the excellence of the entries. Among the fruit exhibits were some from Penticon, which did not enter the competitions, but gave one an idea what kinds and sizes of fruit were grown at that BC city.

The Society committee have to be congratulated in maintaining the show despite war time conditions.

A number of Coleman flower lovers were to be seen inspecting the various blooms.

Victory Celebration Meeting of All Local Organizations to be Held at Legion Friday Night

Meeting to be at 7:45; All Delegates Asked to Submit Suggestions; Legion President George Derbyshire in Charge of Arrangements.

As a result of a meeting between members of the town council and Legion executive on Sunday, a meeting of all organizations' representatives is to be held at the Legion club on Friday (tomorrow) evening at 7.15 for the purpose of making arrangements for a Victory celebration once peace has been declared in the European theatre.

Notices have been sent all local organizations to be represented at this important meeting. A request has been made by Mr. Derbyshire that all representatives give suggestions thought to what the celebration at this celebration, and to forward their suggestions to the meeting where they will be discussed and if found acceptable will be incorporated in the key plan.

Invitations have also been sent to the local clergy, who must necessarily take a leading role in the celebration. Others who have been invited are former Bandmaster James Lowe and Pipe Major James Moore.

In case any organization has been inadvertently missed with a written invitation, they are asked to send their representative to the meeting along with suggestions.

Mr. And Mrs. M. Joyce To Leave Coleman

Have Resided Here Since 1931; Will Reside at Fort Langley, BC; Had Been Active Community Worker.

Still another popular old time couple are soon to leave town for the warmer climes of the Pacific. This time it is Mr. and Mrs. "Mickey" Joyce, Coleman residents since 1931 and Pass residents since 1903.

Mr. and Mrs. Joyce spent a three weeks vacation at the coast last month, during which time they became firmly convinced that they had experienced enough of Alberta's severe winters and blustery winds and wished to enjoy the more temperate climate of the Pacific for a number of years. The decision made, they returned home last week and immediately started to sell their furniture and home. Within a matter of a few days everything had been sold and they expect to be enroute to their new home at Fort Langley, BC, shortly.

While at the coast last month Mrs. Joyce secured a home which now awaits their arrival. Mr. Joyce will enjoy a well earned vacation before he seeks employment.

Mickey first came to the Pass in 1903 from Durham, England, and settled at Fernie. He was in the latter city four months before moving to Michel, where he gained employment with the C.N.P. collieries. He remained here six years. In 1906 he married Miss Grace Jenkins, of Fernie, who had recently arrived from Wales.

In 1910 he moved to northern Alberta, where he worked as a fire-burner for two years. In 1912 he came back to Michel, where he got a job prospecting up the Elk River. Following the Hilcrest explosion in 1914, he came to Hilcrest and during his stay there worked for a time with Mack Stigler. He moved to Bellevue for a year with Bellevue collieries. After that, he was sent to Blairmore, where he worked with West Canadian Collieries from 1915 to 1929.

In the latter year he moved with his family to Corbin, where he remained for two years. Their son Jim was a star hockey player at this time, and he and his parents came to Coleman in 1931, where they have remained till the present.

Mr. and Mrs. Joyce have had a family of four boys and a daughter. A young son died at Pincher Creek while Mrs. Joyce was on her 16th birthday. After that, her son months was drowned in 1923 at Blairmore during the flood. Jimmy still remains here. Miss Grace is in Toronto, while Charlie is residing at Vancouver.

Mickey has been an active community worker while in Coleman. He has been president of the local miners union, U.M.W.A.; vice-chairman of the local war finance committee; has been canvasser for the Red Cross; War Savings Certificates and Victory Bonds, and is at present a member of the local Legion executive and chairman of the Legion social committee. Their many friends are sorry to see Mr. and Mrs. Joyce leave the old town, but wish them health and happiness in the milder climate of the blue Pacific. Mr. and Mrs. Joyce in turn bid a hearty welcome to their friends to call in at their Fort Langley home when vacation time once again rolls around in 1945.

Education In Wartime

IN CRITICAL TIMES such as we have experienced since 1939, it is natural that public interest should be concentrated mainly on the war effort, and that all available human and material resources should likewise be devoted to this end. Canada has made a notable and wholehearted contribution towards an Allied victory, and the Canadian people have willingly accepted their share of sacrifice and sorrow. Such an all-out war effort has drawn heavily on our normal reserves of labour and materials, and has, of necessity, brought about the curtailment of many peace time services. Some of these curtailments have concerned luxury items which the public could give up without serious inconvenience. Others, however, have involved more essential services, and have given rise to urgent and complex problems.

Effect Of War On Education

Education is an important public service which has been seriously affected by the labour shortage during the past five years. When the war commenced, many teachers left their class rooms to serve in the armed forces or to work in war industries. In addition, many hundreds of young men and women who, under normal conditions would have entered the teaching profession, undertook some form of war service. These conditions have caused an alarming shortage of qualified teachers in Canadian schools, and a resulting drop in the level of educational standards throughout the Dominion. The Wartime Information Board, at Ottawa, has conducted a survey of Canadian schools and universities in wartime, and the report on this survey has recently been made public. It presents some interesting facts concerning the present shortage of trained teachers in our elementary and secondary schools.

Standards Have Been Relaxed

Lack of a sufficient number of qualified teachers has led to a temporary relaxation, by the provinces, of the usual requirements for teachers' diplomas, and the result has been, according to the survey, that during the academic year 1943-44, over 100,000 Canadian school children were taught by teachers who did not have full professional qualifications. Since the beginning of the war, over 5,000 "stop gap" instructors have been employed and during the same period, 635 class rooms were closed because of the teacher shortage. Efforts have been made to improve the situation. Teachers' salaries have increased considerably since 1942 in most parts of the Dominion, and since July, 1943, teachers have been frozen in their profession. It is apparent, however, that a serious problem exists in our schools, and that its effect on the standard of education is regrettable.

Snapshots Raise Morale Mainstay Of Future

British Servicemen Get Snapshots Of Their Families

Servicemen like to have pictures of their families in familiar home surroundings rather than against the formal studio background. Every branch of the Y.M.C.A. in base towns or even mobile canteens, is acting as an order office to supply such pictures. The men make their applications, which are forwarded to London headquarters. Then a corps of 1,500 amateur photographers goes into action. They are volunteers who joined this scheme and who, in their spare time, visit the homes of servicemen to take snapshots. Even General Montgomery has taken advantage of the plan. One of the amateur photographers visited his son's school and, at Montgomery's request, forwarded the latest snapshot of the boy.

Has Not Been Damaged

But Palace At Versailles Badly Run Down And Neglected

The beautiful Versailles palace, where the 1919 peace was signed, is a picture of neglect today, with its classic gardens overgrown with weeds but structurally intact.

The Germans did not molest the palace, despite Hitler's vehemence at the "dictates of Versailles", but it is run down and its classic halls are badly in need of repair.

Earlier reports that the west wing had burned proved untrue.

In courtship, grebes and divers present weeds to their mates; partridges, stones; herons, sticks; warblers, twigs or leaves. In all such cases the gifts are nesting material.

British Turning To Youth And Making Plans For Educational Reforms

It is now that Britain is turning to youth as the mainstay of the future. It is evident that if all the educational reforms that are being debated are put into operation Britain will lead the world by a comfortable margin in this field, and will have the most literate and best-educated general public known in any country. The conclusion is inescapable that this is precisely what the British people intend to become. Britain will emerge from the war with a small population compared with some of the other countries, and she must make the most of what she has. The post-war problem in this country will be somewhat different, and Britain's educational reforms need not necessarily represent the best solution of our education questions. Nevertheless the trend to educate the public the highest possible point seems a sound plan for any country. The British experiment will be watched with the greatest interest. —Montreal Gazette.

Tests Show Reduction

Wheat From Prairies Has Less Protein Content This Year

Average protein content of wheat from the three prairie provinces was 13.6 per cent., a reduction of 3 per cent. compared with last year, said the grain research laboratory of the board of grain commissioners after testing 646 samples.

Ninety-three Manitoba samples showed protein content of 12.5 per cent. compared with 12.9 in 1943. Saskatchewan wheat with 494 samples, had a protein content of 13.6 and Alberta with 59 samples, 14.9 per cent. Samples from the same areas a year ago showed Saskatchewan wheat with 14 per cent. protein and Alberta 14.7.

John Grier, commissioner of the National Film Board, said one of the "most vivid" memories of his recent trip to Normandy was that of the "cool", precise planning and preparation at Canadian headquarters.

A Potential Weapon

Flame Thrower Mounted On Churchill Tank Can Hurt Blaze Around Corners

British authorities took secret wraps off the fire-breathing 41-ton Churchill "Crocodile", a new tank-mounted flame-thrower, capable of hurling its lethal blaze 450 feet ahead and even around corners.

The potent British weapon was introduced to the Germans at the Normandy beaches, used with what the British information services reported as "deadly effect" in burning a path for British and Canadian forces through Hitler's strong-points in France.

The British supply and army staff in the announcement of the new weapon called it the most powerful flame thrower in the world. Designed to burn out strong-points of the Atlantic wall and save infantry lives, the "Crocodile" uses a special new type of fuel. Its flames can be ricocheted off a nearby surface, in the manner of a billiard shot, to burn out pill boxes and trenches hundreds of feet away.

The flame gun is mounted on a standard Churchill tank, with the fuel carried in an armored trailer behind. The flame equipment can be jettisoned in case of need and the tank can operate thereafter as an orthodox Churchill, with no cut in fire power.

The announcement said British troops first used flame throwers to put a coastal battery out of action in the Dieppe raid in which units of the Canadian 2nd Division constituted the majority of the attacking force, and have been working on their development ever since.

The Germans got the benefit of it all shortly after D-day when the Crocodiles, newly built, rolled ashore on schedule.

Nazi Nest-Eggs

Leaders Have Fortunes Put Away In Neutral Countries

Nazi leaders are said to have fortunes put away in neutral countries. When Nazism collapses these international thugs hope to get away and live a life of ease.

According to one report, Goebbels has £1,500,000 tucked away in South America and Japan; Himmler has £500,000 in South America; Ribbentrop has £1,400,000 in Geneva, The Hague and Madrid. —Kitchener Record.

GHM TROPHIES

The spirit of savagery is to be found everywhere in the world. Recently President Roosevelt refused a proffered gift of a paper-cutter made out of the shoulderbone of a Japanese soldier. And it will be recalled that one of Queen Victoria's faithful warriors once wanted to present her with an inkwell made from the shrivelled head of an African chieftain. —Peterborough Examiner.

Price Control And Rationing Information

Q.—My mother is coming from the United States to spend a holiday with me and is writing to the local ration board for a temporary ration card. What information is it necessary for her to give in her application?

A.—She need only give her name and her home address, or the Canadian address where she will be staying. An application card with instructions will be mailed to her when she arrives. She could of course apply in person to your local ration board if that was convenient.

Q.—I found a ration book but the owner's address is not on it. What should I do with it?

A.—Turn it in or mail it to your local ration board enclosing a note stating why the book is being returned. The reason for this is that ration books are returned for a number of reasons and knowing that it is a lost book will make it easier for the Prices Board to check and find the owner.

Q.—I wish to obtain a quantity of molasses to use for feeding my livestock. What is the coupon value of such molasses?

A.—Blackstrap molasses if sold in bulk or in containers greater than 120 fluid ounces is not rationed. It is this type of molasses which is used to feed livestock or fowl.

Hudson Bay Railway Useful In War Service

OTTAWA.—Two trains a week—and an unpublished but substantial number of "specials"—have rattled a patriotic song of wartime service on the tracks of the Hudson Bay Railway set solidly on a bedrock of eternal frost, officials said.

Announcement on Aug. 1 that great air bases had been developed at The Pas, Man., and at Churchill, on the western shore of Hudson Bay, brought into prominence the work of the railway on which nearly $40,000,000 has been spent.

In the first years of the war the railway was little used as the Hudson Bay route to the United Kingdom was without convoy protection. In 1941, the tonnage moved by the Hudson Bay line was a modest 10,160 tons. In 1942, with the development of air bases and air military activity in the north, the tonnage carried over the 510 miles from The Pas to Churchill rose to 110,841, a ten-fold increase.

For security reasons, officials said they could not give details of later movements, but assumed they had continued heavy in comparison with pre-war years.

The railway's capacity has never been strained by imports in the past. Hard liquor supplies, purchased in the United Kingdom by prairie governments, and candies sometimes represented a substantial proportion of the imports taken to Churchill by ship in pre-war years, when the import tonnage handled by the railway in a year sometimes was no more than 3,000 or 4,000.

Outward bound, the loads were heavier, with 4,000,000 bushels of wheat alone carried by rail to Churchill in one year. With almost no ship movements in Hudson Bay in the early war years, the government terminal elevator at Churchill was used for storage only.

But, during the last year, some grain moved again during the shipping season, which usually lasts about 10 weeks, approximately from Aug. 1 to Oct. 8. On Aug. 19, 1943, wheat in storage at Churchill totalled 2,617,396 bushels and on Aug. 17 this year the amount had been reduced to 1,877,812 bushels.

Officials said recent air operations in the north have added to information on ice conditions in the bay and Hudson strait. They have done little to encourage the hope that the 10-week shipping season may be extended greatly, even with the assistance of icebreakers.

LEFT BY GERMANS

Equipment Abandoned In France Included Gas Masks For Horses

WITH THE FIRST CANADIAN ARMY ON THE SEINE.—Baby robot tanks and gas masks for horses are among equipment abandoned by the Germans in their flight across the Seine.

Twenty robot tanks were found in the Domaniere forest east of Elbeuf, where the Germans had a huge supply and ammunition dump. The horse respirators had a metal nose cap about the size of a German helmet at the end of a sleeve of resilient treated cloth. The neck of this sleeve is elastic and could fit tightly around a horse's nose just below its eyes. There are breathing vents in the metal snout of the mask.

A VALUED EXHIBIT

Destroyed By German Soldier Seeking Shelter In Paris Museum

PARIS.—The chief guard of the famous Louvre art museum said that in four years occupation, the Germans destroyed only one valued exhibit—a 4,500-year-old mummified Egyptian sheep.

It was torn to pieces by a frantic German soldier in the basement as he sought shelter during the panic caused by wild bursts of gunfire between rooftop snipers and French patriots marching in the great liberation day parade.

The Louvre is considered the most magnificent public building in Paris.

BATTLESHIP SUNK

LONDON.—Beating the Germans to it, the R.A.F. sank the half-built French battleship Clemenceau in Brest harbor, the air ministry announced. The ship, unfinished at the time of the fall of France in 1940, was to have been a 35,000-ton vessel of the Richelieu class. The R.A.F. sank the hull to prevent the Germans from moving it and using it to block the important harbor.

Parisians Free Their City

The historic arc de Triomphe in Paris through which the Nazis marched in triumph after the fall of France a few years ago, is no longer under German domination, as hundreds of thousands of Frenchmen free their city.

Greatest Horror In Nazi Europe Has Been Bared

LUBLIN, Poland.—Four German prisoners of war stood with a bored air in front of a Russian-Polish atrocity commission here and told their stories of Majdanek, perhaps the greatest horror in Nazi Europe.

In curt phrases they said that men, women and children of 22 nationalities had been gassed, hanged, shot, burned, drugged or starved to death in the three years of the operation of the Majdanek barbed wire-enclosed encampment in a rolling meadowland at the edge of Lublin. Russians and Poles have estimated that it received more than 500,000 persons doomed to extermination.

Majdanek is a ghastly fantasy. It was established for murder on a vast but methodical scale. Until a group of British and American correspondents visited it—with its six concrete vaults for execution by cyanide or carbon monoxide gas, its open air crematorium surrounded by skeletons, its mounds of human ashes mixed with manure for fertilizing cabbage patches and its overflow burial ground in a pine woods carpeted with decaying bodies, most of these newspapermen could not even begin to imagine the proportions of its frightfulness.

That night, our clothes still reeking of the dead, we sat in a stuffy Lublin courtroom while three German S.S. Elite guard officers and one German civilian renegade spoke in defiance of Majdanek's scenes of slaughter and blamed it all on "orders from above."

N. A. Staib, a blond six-foot German butcher, arrested in 1939 for selling meat in the black market, told of his incarceration in Majdanek, during which he once became a member of the barracks police detail.

"I have seen a tractor haul as many as 400 corpses at one time from the 'bath and disinfection house' to the ovens on the hill," he said. "One day I saw the bodies of 157 Polish children who had been gassed. Another time I saw a group of Polish women marched up a hill to be shot to save the trouble of gassing them. They were ordered to disrobe. One refused, a girl about 28 to 29. Two men tied her hands and legs, put her on a steel stretcher and thrust her alive into the white hot oven."

S. S. Komandofuehrer Theodore Schoelen, 40, in charge of clothing collection at the shower room adjoining the gas chambers, admitted remembering Nov. 3, 1943, when, according to the camp records 18,400 prisoners received "special treatment" which reduced the number of camp prisoners by that number.

"It was an order from above, perhaps direct from Berlin," he said. "The wireless played Strauss waltzes through the camp loud speakers all that day and most of us were told to stay in barracks. I know nothing more about it. I always gave bread and cigarettes away to the prisoners."

Two other German prisoners gave similar conclusive evidence of the mass slaughters.

CHURCHILL HOME

British Prime Minister Returns From Visit To Italian Front

LONDON.—Prime Minister Churchill returned by air from Italy.

The sunburned prime minister, who appeared without his familiar cigar, was met by Mrs. Churchill, Air Marshal Sir Trafford Leigh-Mallory, Allied air commander in western Europe, and other British officers.

Mr. Churchill went to Italy before the invasion of southern France.

BOMB BASES

Drive Is Made To Free Britain From Menace

WITH BRITISH TROOPS EAST OF THE SEINE.—A British general issued a special order of the day saying that the drive to wipe out the German flying bomb bases in northern France was about to start and "for the first time in this war we are fighting directly to free our homes, our wives, and our children from German attacks."

"Every yard we advance reduces the area from which he can launch his secret weapons," the general said in the message to his troops. "I realize that with this goal in front of us there is no need to urge you men onwards."

"We are now in the van of the Allied armies, British, American and French, and we are about to start a deep drive into enemy-occupied France north of the Seine," the general announced.

"This is the country from which the Germans launch their flying bombs against England."

"Let us drive forward relentlessly taking as our motto, 'One more kilometre and one less bomb.'"

"If everyone gives of his utmost, of the last ounce, within a very short time our families will once more be able to sleep peacefully in their beds at night and our casualties since landing in Normandy will not have been suffered in vain."

Agreement Is Reached On World Security

WASHINGTON.—The Dumbarton Oaks conference announced "general agreement" on the form of an international security organization, including a council composed of big powers plus a number of smaller nations.

The conferees in a joint statement declined to amplify the announcement made or to say specifically what authority should be given to the small powers on the council in relation to the big nations.

The statement said: "After a week of discussions, the three heads of delegations are happy to announce that there is general agreement among them to recommend that the proposed international organization for peace and security should provide for:

"1. An assembly of representatives of all peace-loving nations based on the principle of sovereign equality.

"2. A council composed of a smaller number of members in which the principal states will be joined by a number of other states to be elected periodically.

"3. Effective means for the peaceful settlements of disputes, including an international court of justice for the adjudication of justifiable questions, and also the applications of such other means as may be necessary for maintenance of peace and security.

"The delegations are continuing to discuss the structure and jurisdiction of the various organs and methods of procedure.

"These topics require a great deal of consideration, and a number of proposals are now being submitted to examination. . . . After our work has advanced to a stage at which our fully considered recommendations have been formulated and our conclusions have been presented, our respective governments will decide the appropriate moment for publication."

HEALTH PROGRAM

Third Annual National Immunization Week

TORONTO.—In support of the program of health departments throughout the country, the Health League of Canada is sponsoring the third annual National Immunization Week, September 10 to 16.

National Immunization Week is intended to direct attention of parents to the dangers of preventable communicable diseases such as whooping cough, diphtheria, scarlet fever and smallpox, which annually take a toll of hundreds of young Canadian lives.

The week will be opened by a message from His Excellency the Governor-General, Through the Co-operation of the National Film Board, a movie will be shown in all theatres. Newspapers and magazines will carry stories, while the radio and sponsored advertising will assist the program. Posters and leaflets are available in French and English. These are supplied by the Health League of Canada.

War Criminals Will Have To Pay For Crimes

LONDON.—Sir Cecil Hurst, vice-president of the permanent court of international justice and chairman of the United Nations commission for the investigation of war crimes, made it plain that war criminals will have little chance of escaping justice by taking refuge in neutral countries.

At a commission conference in London Sir Cecil said "considerable pressure" would be applied to any neutral countries giving refuge to war criminals.

"After the last war Holland dug her toes in over the question of the ex-Kaiser at Doorn. You may be quite sure that the United Nations governments are alive to that danger on this occasion."

Sir Cecil refused to disclose the names of men on the "wanted" list. He would not even state that Hitler was on the list, although he conceded that the case against Hitler was "very complex."

The United Nations may decide to put men like Hitler or Mussolini on trial or deal with them in the same way as Napoleon was dealt with by what is called "executive action."

The men responsible for the shooting of British and Canadian airmen prisoners were criminals who had violated the laws of war, said Sir Cecil. The utmost efforts would be made to see that they were brought to justice.

Responsibility for deciding what war crimes shall be brought before the commission and for submitting evidence rests with the individual governments, the statement said.

WANT TO QUIT

A Gloomy Review Of The Nazi War Picture

LONDON.—In a gloomy review of the Nazi war picture, Lt.-Gen. Kurt Dittmar implied that Germany would be willing to cease fighting if the Allies would relax their war aims and substitute "an attitude of reason and better understanding." He addressed the German people by radio.

The high command propagandist acknowledged German reverses in France and deplored developments in Romania, but said that nevertheless Germany "has to continue as long as our enemies stick to their war aims," and "as long as reason and better understanding have not replaced this determination to destroy Germany."

"If this determination did not exist," he said, "if the world we face had been ready honestly to recognize the living rights of a great, capable and hard-working nation, no reason could have been seen why this misery had to fill the world once more for half a decade, and will continue to fill it."

Dittmar said the development of the war situation "may certainly have raised the hopes among our enemies that his objective, the military defeat of Germany, is no longer as far away as only three months ago."

"The outward development of events even appears to justify this view to a large extent," he said.

Drawing a parallel between Allied successes in 1944 and the German victories of 1940, Dittmar said "equipment led to success—and the numerical superiority is today on the enemy side."

He added, however, that "the British and Americans are still on a bloody and tiresome road, whose end cannot be gauged yet."

ADMIRAL'S OPINION

Baron Keyes Sees End Of European War This Winter

MONTREAL.—Admiral of the Fleet Baron Keyes said he believed the European war would be over by early winter and that the Japanese campaign would end "much sooner than some people think."

The hero of Zeebrugge in the First Great War, and founder of the commandos in this conflict, Baron Keyes spoke to the Canadian Club here as part of a speaking tour that will take him to Ottawa, Toronto, Winnipeg and Vancouver. After that, he said, he would fly to New Zealand and Australia "on government business."

A GERMAN ATROCITY

MOSCOW.—The state investigating committee on German atrocities, headed by the Leningrad journalist, Nikolai Tikhonov, reported the Nazis put a booby trap in the grave of the beloved Russian poet, Alexander Pushkin. The committee listed the names of numerous Russians who lost their lives visiting Pushkin's grave.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

COLEMAN'S AVIATION FUTURE

Pursuing the council notes this week, we read a small item where a letter had been received from the Calgary Board of Trade's aviation committee inviting a council representative to attend an air conference for southern Alberta at Calgary on September 21 and 22. The letter had been read and then filed, to be forgotten.

To us this was a letter of major importance to Coleman. At this conference will be men who hold high positions in the world of aviation throughout Canada. Coleman has an airport that cost $86,000 to build. At the convention one entire afternoon will be devoted to an air clinic, at which delegates will have an opportunity of discussing their local problems personally with officials of the Department of Transport.

What more could we ask? Here is the opportunity of placing our airport in front of Department of Transport officials and finding out just what part it could play in Canada's post-war aviation development. We could gather all the detailed information we needed regarding aviation's future progress over the Crow's Nest Pass and the part we would be expected to take in it.

We cannot remain blind to the value of our airport. Some organization must wake up, and soon, to the golden asset we have a few miles west of town. Other southern Alberta cities and towns are awake to the exciting possibilities of their airfields. Let Coleman come to realize its airfield possibilities before it is too late. We should be discussing their local problems personally with officials of the Department of Transport.

Theatre Notes

Playing at the Palace this week end is Betty Hutton and Eddie Bracken in "The Miracle of Morgan's Creek."

Small-town, fun-loving Betty Hutton can't return the love of devoted home-town boy Eddie Bracken. However, she learns a lesson when she goes out on a wild party with some soldiers, and awakens the next morning with the realization that she married a soldier, whose name she doesn't even know. Later she finds she is going to have a baby. After many heart-breaks, Betty settles down with Eddie, realizing she always loved him.

The cast includes Dianna Lynn, William Demarest, Brian Donlevy and Akim Tamiroff.

Cigarette Fund Notes

Dear Sirs: Received cigarettes okay and thanks a million. They are catching up with me. I'm also receiving The Journal quite regularly. Haven't met any Coleman men over here as yet but haven't given up hope. Cheerio.—Ronald Jones.

Dear Sirs: Once again your parcel of cigarettes has come through. Many thanks to you and the people of Coleman who make these gifts possible. Cheerio, folks.—Al MacQuarrie.

Dear Sirs: Here I am once again to thank you for your gift of cigarettes. I wish I had some way of showing or putting on paper the way I feel, but not being a poet or writer, I shall just say thanks a million, and I hope some day I may be able to return the favors. —A. Cell.

Dear Sirs: Thanks once again for the 300 cigarettes. I would be lost without them. All the best to everyone.—McJ Cousins.

Come and bring a friend.
The church comes into our life to bring us knowledge of the presence of God. If one were going to live in a far country, would he not, if opportunity offered, make friends of the king of that country. The church comes into our life to make life more joyous, more free from sin, more contented, more spiritually furnished, more sound in its judgment of things that are worth while. But likewise the church nourishes that growing union with God through Christ which is man's best heritage and the best compensation for his labors.
Altar flowers Sept. 3 given by Mrs. Samuel Moores. Thanks, Rector.

Milk IS NOT ELASTIC

The production of milk and milk products in Canada has achieved a planning record. Careful of every quart. But we must recognize the conditions that in these times we all can't get all we want.

Chesman
Wartime Prices & Trade Board

WHAT HAPPENS TO ALL THIS MILK?

In spite of greater production, the demand for milk and milk products has risen even more, because—

- There's more money to spend;
- More people are working, with changed food habits and increased food needs;
- Our Armed Forces and Allies make heavy demands.

It has therefore been necessary by rationing, by subsidies, by careful planning and by other controls—to divert our milk supply into channels most suited to our various food needs.

The above graph shows in percentage how the total Canadian milk supply is used.

FLUID MILK

TAKES 35% OF OUR MILK

Because fluid milk is regarded by nutritionists as the most nearly perfect food, nothing has been allowed to interfere with its sale. Today, Canadians are drinking more milk and a greater percentage of our milk supply is being consumed as fluid milk—than ever before. Fluid milk has the right of way, but don't waste a drop of it.

CHEESE

TAKES 10% OF OUR MILK

Canada's annual cheese production has gone up by 37 million pounds since the war.

Cheese is a concentrated food product—easily shipped and stored. That is one reason why we send large quantities to Great Britain to help meet its pressing food needs. While in the last year we exported four of every five pounds of cheese we made, our production has been so increased that we have left for domestic use about three million pounds a year more than before the war.

BUTTER

TAKES 48% OF OUR MILK

In the first three years of war, our butter consumption increased 10.9%. So, rationing was established to prevent too much milk going into butter, at the expense of other important milk products, and to insure a fair share to everyone.

The rationing of butter was influenced by the fact that it has less nutritive value than some other milk products, and because we get a generous supply of fats or their food equivalent in other forms.

To maintain a proper balance of consumption between various milk products and to ensure that butter is put into storage for winter use—when production drops—it is necessary to reduce the ration from time to time.

EVAPORATED MILK

TAKES 6% OF OUR MILK

More than twice as much (152 million lbs.) was used by Canadians that year as in 1938 (74 million lbs.). And yet, there has not been enough.

Where has it all gone? It's an important food for babies—and there are 50,000 more of them a year. Larger quantities have gone to areas where fresh milk is not available. Armed Services have added new demands. In spite of this, our exports of evaporated milk to Great Britain, Newfoundland and the West Indies, etc., are maintained at pre-war level.

ICE CREAM AND OTHER MILK PRODUCTS

TAKES ABOUT 1% OF OUR MILK

The manufacture of ice cream is restricted to the 1941 level because milk is needed for other purposes.
Milk Powder and Condensed Milk are taking more milk. Milk sugar is used in the manufacture of Penicillin and for other wartime purposes. Casein (a milk by-product) is used in making glue for aeroplanes.

90% OF THE MILK PRODUCED IN CANADA IS CONSUMED IN CANADA

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON
SEPTEMBER 10

DAVID ANOINTED KING

Golden text: Man looketh on the outward appearance, but the Lord looketh on the heart.—1 Samuel 16:7. Lesson: 1 Samuel 16:1-5, 11-18. Devotional Reading: Psalm 72:12-19.

Explanations and Comments

David Anointed by Samuel, 1 Samuel 16:1-13. After his interview with Saul recorded in the 15th chapter of First Samuel, Samuel realized that Saul was unfit for the kingship and it was time for him to take steps toward securing the right man to succeed him when God should execute his judgment upon him. He realized that he must go to Bethlehem with a flask (horn) filled with oil and anoint one of the sons of Jesse as the Lord's chosen king. Yet he hesitated to go, for would not Saul kill him if he did become known as the anointed one? When he came to the sacrifice, he would give silent about the more important reason for his coming. He would give one reason for his visit, which was a true one, and would say nothing about another reason, which was under no obligation to divulge.

When they came to the sacrificial feast the prophet is described as carrying on in the depth of his consciousness a dialogue with God, as the seven sons of Jesse, one after another, passed before him. Eliah was another Saul, tall and handsome, and the voice within Samuel's soul warned him: "Look not on his countenance, or on the height of his stature; because I have rejected him: for Jehovah seeth not as man seeth: for man looketh on the outward appearance, but Jehovah looketh on the heart."

David Becomes King of Judah, 2 Samuel 2:1-4. News of the battle of Gilboa (recall last week's lesson) reached David through an Amalekite who had been on the battlefield. He brought to David Saul's crown and bracelets, and said that he had found the king leaning on his spear, and that at the king's entreaty he had killed him. Instead of the expected reward, he received death at David's hands for having killed the Lord's anointed. In memory of Samuel and Jonathan, David composed a song of lamentation in which, forgetful of his personal wrongs, he eulogized the king and his son.

Some time after this David sought God's guidance as to his return to Judah and was convinced that it was in accordance with God's will that he should go to Hebron with all his household and settle there. Then the men of Judah came and anointed him king over his own tribe of Judah.

Even If Feet Of Lion Has Been Heard Before

It happened in Matabeleland (so a correspondent boldly declares, and one can only hope it has not happened before in print). A lion and lioness in quest of supper discovered a group of half a dozen gnus. Leaping into their midst, the lion with six blows of his powerful paws laid them all dead on the veld.

"That," he said, turning to his wife, "is the end of the gnus. The time is exactly 18½ minutes past nine."—Manchester Guardian.

Ultra "High" Frequency

—Photographs—Courtesy, Vancouver Sun.

Commercial aviation in Canada and the United States took a step forward recently with the inauguration by Trans-Canada Air Lines of the first frequency modulated radio system to be installed by a commercial air line.

The new system links Vancouver and Victoria in the ultra frequency spectrum which does away with wires and static.

Tucked away high in Hotel Vancouver is the transmitter and the photo shows S. S. Stevens, superintendent of communications and electronics, as he demonstrates the set. All one has to do is pick up an ordinary telephone and press a button to obtain instantaneous voice communication over the 44 miles in between. The installation marks the first commercial use of this type of transmitter in Canada and probably on the Continent, though the system is used extensively by the armed forces.

Name Just Revealed

Man Who Planned Invasion Is Publicly Thanked By Churchill

A. C. Cummings in the Hamilton Spectator says: The man who planned it all—not General Eisenhower, as millions of people in the United Kingdom believe, but an unknown soldier whom Premier Churchill has just made famous by publicly thanking him. What did he plan? Nothing less than the invasion of Normandy. Who is he? He is 51-year-old Major-General Frederick Edgeworth Morgan, gunner officer in the last war; tall, grey-haired and shy. He and his staff drew up the vast and intricate plan that was submitted to the Quebec Conference and approved there. But, until Premier Churchill mentioned his name, no one outside the War Office had ever heard of General Morgan.

His friends call him "Freddie". His health has not been good—he does not take enough care of it. He speaks and writes French well. He also knows a great deal about English literature. He has never had a command since he was a battery major in the last war. The reason is that he has been constantly asked to do special jobs. He knows the Red Army as few British soldiers know it. He always expected it to give a good account of itself. He has a "planning mind". When Britain was expecting an invasion after Dunkirk, he was consulted about what was best to be done. In the last war he was a captain in the Royal Artillery. He was known, however, to every one in the village of Brimston, in Wiltshire, where he lived as "the Colonel". The villagers can not bring themselves to speak of him as "general" even now.

Have To Wear Gloves

Kodak Company Employees Use Them During Film Inspection Process

Four hundred thousand pairs of white cotton gloves in five sizes and 12 styles are made each year at Eastman Kodak Company.

Glove production is a comparatively obscure operation of the company, which is best known for its manufacture of cameras, film, fire-control instruments and wartime products.

Made for Kodak Park employees, the gloves are especially necessary during the film-inspection process in which the operator feels the film for imperfections. In this work a pair of gloves wears out in four hours. The big-scale glove-making process engages the full time of about a dozen employees in the Box Department.

In Spite Of Losses

Royal Navy More Powerful Now Than In War Effort

A revised list of Royal Navy losses in the war including those of the dominion navies, shows that a mighty navy lies at the bottom of the ocean, the price of admiralty and the world's freedom.

The list, up to August 13, includes old ships that had won fame in action and bore historic names, such as the battle cruiser Hood and the cruisers York and Exeter, as well as some warships so new that the particulars of them have never been made public. The list comprises:

- 3 battleships (Royal Oak, Prince of Wales, Barcham)
- 2 battle-cruisers (Hood, Repulse)
- 5 aircraft carriers
- 2 small aircraft carriers
- 28 cruisers
- 14 armed merchant cruisers
- 124 destroyers
- 64 submarines
- 7 frigates
- 233 corvettes
- 289 miscellaneous smaller craft, not including landing-craft of various types

The summary includes five destroyers of the Royal Canadian Navy, the Fraser, Margaree, Ottawa, St. Croix and Athabasca; one frigate, the Valleyfield; and five corvettes, Levis, Charlottetown, Louisbourg, Weyburn and Windflower. The last named was on loan from the Royal Navy.

Despite the heavy losses, the Royal Navy is more powerful now than at the beginning of the war, although its actual strength is a closely-guarded secret.

The most recent additions to the capital ship class include the giant battleships, Lion and Temeraire, whose commissioning was disclosed recently with the announcement that Admiral Sir Bruce Fraser had been appointed to the command of the vastly-expanded Far Eastern fleet.

The new battleships are large, faster and more powerfully armed than the George V and Duke of York and while details of their construction and gun-turrets are secret, they are believed to be the most formidable naval units afloat.

Britain's General Post Office Playing Part In War Effort

Britain's General Post Office undertakes many odd jobs to help the war effort in addition to maintaining its vast public services. More than 10,000 members of the Forces have been trained as Morse and teleprinter operators in Post Office telegraph schools. The Post Office, too, plays its part in sending on, free of charge, to the distributing centres the millions of books and magazines which the British public hands in over the Post Office counters for members of the Forces.

Beginning Of Paris

Foundation Of France's Capital Laid Early In Christian Era

The foundation of France's glamorous capital was laid on a little island in the Seine early in the Christian era. Victim of barbarian invasions during those riotous ages, Paris always came back. At first as a religious centre, then cultural, then political, scientific, industrial. Under Louis XIV it imposed its manners on western civilization, its language upon world society.

There the guillotine was set up and the Bastille pulled down, twin symbols of the revolution. There Napoleon fixed, for a few brief years, France's star in the European constellation. There, too, Napoleon III, trying desperately to maintain his throne by a public works program, added the last touches to the architectural wealth already topped by the Cathedral of Notre Dame de Paris.—Detroit Free Press.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY—

Joseph's Coat

— By —
JANET DORAN

McClure Newspaper Syndicate

Walking downtown this first crisp day of winter, Joseph tried to crowd his thoughts into the orderly channel that belonged to the past. Two years before, he'd had friends, property, the faith and trust of his fellow-townsmen and now—now he was an outcast.

He jabbed knotted lean fists into trousers pockets, fighting the memories back. And in the store he stood, miserably self-conscious, aware of the chill, curious stares of his neighbors; their accusing eyes.

He wasn't a thief! He'd never taken a penny of their money. And he was old now; old and forsaken. Yet they scorned him, hated him, suspected him of a flagrant breach of trust.

Waiting for Seth Barnes to serve everyone else, Joe looked back to that other December day when he'd set forth to collect the taxes for the Kulem Pond section. He would never forget it.

He rang Miss Baird's cottage doorbell again, smiled at her steel-tined fork, and the rich aroma of raised doughnuts, while she urged him to come right in and sit.

"I'm just waiting for my coffee to perk, Joseph, and you can have a cup with me."

Miss Lucy Baird never spoke, never nodded, these days, but Joe would not forget the delicious coffee and the fat, sugary doughnuts. He'd eaten three of them, apologizing boyishly. Lucy Baird had been so sweet, chattering away, as lonely women do, while she counted out the cash—forty-seven dollars and thirty cents.

He went again, in memory, to the lonely old farm home of miserly Job Hakas, waiting in the bleak kitchen with not even a cat to give it warmth and life. And Job paid his taxes in currency—over two hundred dollars.

Leaving Job's, he'd gone on collecting—around the lake, down to the mills, to Rob Wayford's. Over twenty-nine hundred dollars in all!

As vividly as if it were yesterday, Joe recalled what happened after that. He had spent bitter months of anguish going over and over every tiny detail of that long day, trying to reconstruct it so perfectly that he'd know—recollect. Only he hadn't.

He remembered the big van roaring downhill toward him on the wrong side of the road. And the split second of horror before the crash. Joe had been miraculously unscratched, as was the truck, though Joseph's modest little coupe was a battered wreck and the truck was minus fender and radiator.

What was more important, however, was that the envelope containing the tax receipts for the town of Linwood Haven was gone.

The town fathers were decent, considering. They allowed Joseph until spring, until the snow was gone, to "find the missing cash. And he knew by then that they believed he'd stolen it, and hidden it away until such time as he'd paid the State and the town—his home town, for his crime.

Through the bitter months that

The Sulfa drugs, which have been effective against a number of human diseases, are helping to save the lives of thousands of farm animals, a speaker reported at the American Veterinary Medical Convention.

Sulfathiazole showed "favorable results," he said on 75 cases of calf scours, a form of septicaemia. Use of sulfamerazine for calf pneumonia has been "very encouraging," he added.

German Officers Terrified When Bomb Strikes Prison Camp Area

So scared were German officers in a prisoner of war camp in southern England when a flying bomb fell in the vicinity—without doing any damage to the house in which they are living—that they made formal application to the camp commandant to be moved away from the area. Sir James Grigg, War Secretary, however, told the House of Commons that existing arrangements for the accommodation of German prisoners of war would not be altered.

RECIPES

SCALLOPED CABBAGE AND HAM
1½ pound fresh green cabbage
2 cup medium white sauce
½ pound cooked, diced ham
½ cup corn flakes.
Shred cabbage. Cook covered in one inch boiling water until tender, about 15 minutes. Drain thoroughly. Mix with white sauce to which dried cooked ham has been added. Put in greased casserole. Cover with corn flakes and bake in moderately hot oven (400 degrees F.) about 15 minutes. Note: Any leftover meat or ½ cup grated cheese may be used instead of the ham. Yield: 8 servings.

WHITE SAUCE
3 tablespoons butter
¼ cup flour
1½ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon paprika
2 cups milk.
Melt butter, add flour and seasonings and mix well. Add milk slowly, stirring constantly. Cook over hot water until sauce thickens stirring to prevent lumping.

QUICK SALAD DRESSING
Mix! Shake in a Jar!
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon sugar
Dash white pepper
¼ teaspoon dry mustard.
½ cup salad oil
2 tablespoons lemon juice
Toose this dressing over mixed green vegetables. A favorite any time.

Should Get Award

Friend Of Churchill Says His Bravery

Merited Victoria Cross
If General Sir Ian Hamilton is right, Premier Churchill ought to have been awarded the Victoria Cross for bravery in the South African War. Sir Ian does not disclose in his autobiography, just published, what the act of bravery was, but he says that it turned the course of the war in favor of the British forces. It seems that both Lord Roberts and Lord Kitchener disliked Mr. Churchill—then a young subaltern—and refused him a recommendation for the V.C. on the ground that in South Africa his status was that of a war correspondent. Sir Ian has been a lifelong friend of Mr. Churchill. He is now 91 and as skilful at writing as he was at soldiering.

Airman Surprised

Shell Which Landed In Dug-Out

Carried His Air Force Number
With The R.C.A.F. in France—It's happened at last—a man got a shell which actually had his number on it.

The man who proved the legend true was LAC. George McMillan of Tatumogouche, N.S., batman in an R.C.A.F. Typhoon wing. A piece of jagged shell casing the size of a silver dollar landed in a dug-out beside him. Lean, bespectacled McMillan picked up the ugly piece of metal, looked at it, observed it bore—"26750."

His eyes "popped wide open."

He took out his identity card to convince himself. Yes, that was his air force number—26750.

SMILE AWHILE

What did one ear say to the other ear?

Well, fancy meeting you on this block!

"How are the fish this morning," said a poacher to a fisherman.
"I really don't know," replied the fisherman. "I've been dropping them a line every day, but haven't had an answer yet."

The village teacher was having difficulty with some little evacuees. After several unsuccessful attempts she asked little Tommy:

"Can you tell me where Noah lived?"

"I don't think he had a regular home," replied the boy. "I imagine he and his family belonged to the floating population."

Two soldiers were in jail, talking things over.

"How did you get here?" one asked.

"Gee, all I said to the General was, 'Are you the egg who runs this army racket?'"

"See here," said the missionary to the African chief, "it is wrong to have more than one wife. Tell all your wives except one that they can no longer look upon you as their husband."

After a moment's reflection, the chief replied: "You tell them!"

"Why do you wear rubber gloves when cutting hair?" asked the customer.

"For the purpose," replied the barber, "of keeping our celebrated hair restorer from causing hair to grow under your fingernails."

The sailor had just arrived back from sea.

"Well, mother," he said heartily, "how do you like the parrot I sent you?"

"Liked it very much," said his mother. "It was nice and plump—but, oh my Jack, wasn't it tough?"

"What is the most useful creature in the world to mankind?" asked the teacher.

"A hen, air," replied Freddie.

"A hen," echoed the teacher. "How do you make that out?"

"We can eat it before it is born, and after it is dead!" exclaimed the boy.

If Shakespeare were alive today, would he still be regarded as a remarkable boy?

I should think so, he'd be nearly 400 years old.

BANDSMEN—

Latest accomplishment of Canadian Women's Army Corps bandsmen was a recent display of handcrafts at Kitchener, Ont. This new phase of versatility came to light during their present tour, when with half clad girl musicians have completed 100 hand-made articles. The display included monogrammed handkerchiefs, luncheon and buffet sets, embroidered pillow slips, needle point and a large multicolored afghan. Time is found for needlework between rehearsals and during long train trips.

OVERSEAS—

Capt. Eva M. Davis of Toronto, may not be a second Edition, but her inventive powers have brought both smiles and appreciation from her fellow-workers. In her office with the Staff Duties Branch of the Canadian Army Overseas she has rigged up a large white card with various cords attached to it. The word "Invulnerable" is printed thereon in large black letters. The cord runs through a pulley arrangement on the ceiling and one end hangs over the ingenious Captain's desk. If you pull the string, the card turns over and the word "Vulnerable" in large red letters is visible on the other side.

Capt. Davis calls her invention "Warning System Mark I." Its purpose is to inform people whether or not there is an air raid going on.

Young Man's War

Canada Has Brigadier 27 Years Old And General Only 31

This is certainly a young man's war if the trend of recent promotions in the army is a criterion.

R. W. Moncel, of Montreal, a general staff officer at a Canadian corps headquarters, became Canada's youngest brigadier at 27.

Daniel C. Spry of Winnipeg became Canada's youngest general at 31.

Maj.-Gen. Spry had previously been the youngest brigadier at 30.

There are several brigadiers in their early 30s including Brig. Desmond Smith, 32, of Ottawa, who recently won the D.S.O. for gallantry in Italy.

Child's Jumper

By ANNE ADAMS

It's a jumper season! Easy-to-make Pattern 4908 has button-closing for back interest. Nice in plaid wool or velveteen; frilly blouse.

Pattern 4908 comes in children's sizes: 2, 4, 6, 8, 10, 12. Jumper, size 6, requires 1 yard 54-inch. Blouse, ½ yard 35-inch.

Send twenty cents (20c) in coins (stamps cannot be accepted) for this pattern. Write plainly Size, Name, Address and Style Number and send orders to the Anne Adams Pattern Dept., Winnipeg Newspaper Union, 175 McDermott Ave. E., Winnipeg, Man.

"Because of the slowness of the mails delivery of our patterns may take a few days longer than usual."

Homing pigeon authorities say that the dove sent out from Noah's Ark probably was a Rock dove, of the same species as the modern homing pigeon.

In Memoriam

MAKIN: In Loving Memory of John W. Makin, who died at Hillcrest on Sept. 7, 1942.

Dear John, can it be true?
Two years have passed since God called you.

The call was short, the shock severe.

To part with one we loved so dear.
Sadly missed by his sister, brother and family, of Coleman.

To Save!

It is a good idea to know the services offered by your OWN TREASURY BRANCHES of the Government of Alberta.

Savings accounts, for example, are made available in three forms. For those who deposit savings regularly... there is the "DEMAND SAVINGS" plan... for those who wish to leave savings on deposit for a period of time... your TREASURY BRANCHES offer the "SIX MONTHS TERM SAVINGS ACCOUNT" and "TWELVE MONTHS TERM SAVINGS ACCOUNT."

You'll find it pays... in satisfaction... and thrift to do business with your OWN "Treasury Branches," and That's a GOOD IDEA!

YOU HAVE A DATE WITH

Happiness

Life offers you many opportunities... you may wish to establish a home, or devote yourself to a business career... in any case you want contentment and happiness.

Present happiness is incomplete unless you can also look forward to a happy and secure future for yourself and your loved ones.

Life insurance guarantees future security... it can assure income when earning power ceases (your own or your husband's).

IF YOU HAVE DEPENDENTS—If you have someone dependent on you, you can get a Mutual Life of Canada policy to provide for your dependent's security, as well as for your retirement years. A Mutual Life representative will be glad to discuss an insurance program to fit your individual needs. Call or write your nearest Mutual Life of Canada office today.
